ALMA MATER

Hail to thee our alma mater,
Cherished from our youth.
We within thy halls have sought
For wisdom, knowledge, truth.
Beloved school to thee we pledge,
As earnestly we try
To nobly live and serve each other
Honoring Upper High.

FIGHT SONG

We're Rams from Upper High
Go, Fight, Win is our cry.
V-I-C-T-O-R-Y
We now salute our alma mater
Shout for a victory,
And we will raise our score,
As we give all our might
For a victory tonight
For Rams evermore.

"Meet Me in

Mr. Smith receives a promotion along with a move to New York. The family, who love it in St. Louis where they are and don't want to move, decides to rebel. Rose, the eldest daughter, causes her father to lose his job, but eventually his boss begs him to come back to the plant with a raise. The whole family goes to the World's Fair, each girl having her beau, and they all live happily ever after.

The Thread That

Jesse tells Naomi how much he loves her.

Jesse Stuart, who has not yet graduated from high school, comes to teach at a rural school. The play depicts his problems and trials there with Guy Hawkins, a bully who has always gotten rid of every previous teacher. Mr. Stuart makes the students, including Guy, learn the values of a good education. Jesse also falls in love with Naomi Dean Norris.

The play is an actual episode taken from the life of Jesse Stuart. His real wife is Naomi Dean, whom he wrote about in his book, THE THREAD THAT RUNS SO TRUE.

A short lunch recess for Jesse and pupils.

Runs So True

"The fight is on!"

Dave Harsh, Chris Walton, Phil Logsdon, Don Beachler, Cheryl Kimmel, Lloyd Blacburn, Chris Bauer, Steve West, Dan Durkin.

"Then the contest will begin."

"Thanks for the water."

Chris Huffman, Dave Harsh, Phil Logsdon, Dan Durkin, Lloyd Blackburn.

Allan Goodhan, Marsha Householder, Dave Harsh.

Under the direction of Miss Dorothy Imhoff, "My Fair Lady" was a loverly performance. Miss Eliza Doolittle started out as a lowly flower girl living in the gutter. As a result of a bet, Professor Henry Higgins, after many long and late hours of work, made a lady of Eliza and passed her off as a Duchess at the Annual Embassy Ball. Professor Higgins took all the credit for the work Eliza had done, and she decided to return to the gutter. She left him, but soon returned to the house, when she realized she couldn't do so "bloody well" without him. A truly "loverly" story, with a "loverly" ending, will always be remembered as one of USHS's best.

Lady"

"Wouldn't it be loverly?"

Dan Binau, John Ulrich, Marsha Householder, Jim Rowse, Roger Wilson.

"Where's Eliza?"

Dave Fox, Dave Harsh, Allan Goodman.

"Charming, charming."

Sharon Strub, Ray Smith, Karen McCray, Don Bower, Dave Harsh, Allan Goodman, Marsha Householder, Marslyn Johnson, Tom Eyestone.

"I'm gettin' married in the mornin'."

Ray Smith, Dave Fox, Tim Everett, Marsha Householder.
